

AOCOED clears air on former student's murder

Published 1 day ago on February 4, 2018

By Esther Bakare

The management of Adeniran Ogunsanya College of Education (AOCOED), Ijanikin, in Lagos, has dissociated its self from the recent cult clash in the area that claimed the life of a former student who graduated from the College in the 2015/2016 academic session.

In a press release signed by the Public Relation Officer of the college, Mrs. Adeyinka Osinaiwo, the school said that contrary to report that incident occurred near the gate of the college, investigations have showed that the clash actually took place about 200 metres away from the school.

The release also noted that the deceased, Sadiq Saka 26, was never at anytime a student of the Ekiti State University (EKSU) which is an affiliate of AOCOED for degree programmes as being claimed in some media.

Osinaiwo said that one Emmanuel who claimed to be a student of the College and gave information about the incident was an ex-student and a friend to the late Saka.