

METRO AND CRIME

Wife-to-be dies while charging phone

Published 13 hours ago on June 20, 2018

By Taiwo Jimoh Twitter

A female official of the Akwa Ibom State Fire Service has lost her life while charging her phone and slept off. The lady, Imaobong Ekanem, it was learnt, was charging her phone and placed it on her chest and slept off, while the light went off later. But when the distribution company restored the light later, Imaobong was said to have been “electrocuted”.

It was learnt that Imaobong only got engaged in March to be married later in the year. Her friend, Maryam Christopher, who took to her Facebook to mourn Imaobong wrote: “I lost a sister like no other.

“My friend was charging her phone and dropped it on her body and slept off, when I turned the light on and brought it back while she was sleeping, her phone exploded and it shocked me to death.”

Share this:

Like this:

Be the first to like this.

RELATED TOPICS:

DON'T MISS

Man clones Andy Ubah's Facebook account, dupes job seekers

UP NEXT

Five SARS men arrested for invading AAUA hostel

YOU MAY LIKE