

Death of 200 Level student: BUK varsity warns against protest

Muhammad Kabir
KANO

Management of Bayero University, Kano State yesterday said the young student, Kamaluddeen Moshood, a 200-Level student in the Department of Accounting in the university, died after been hit by a moving vehicle and as such has warned against a planned protest by students of the university.

Secretary of the university, Mallam Lamara Garba, said this in a statement that the sad incident occurred on Saturday, 12th June, 2021 at the National Orthopedic Hospital Dala, Kano, following injuries he sustained as a result of an auto crash.

engages local security agencies

as Yansakai and others, will go a long way in supporting the other security agencies in fighting banditry in the area.

He added that the objective of their engagement was to curb the attack by bandits and ensure that lives and property of the citizens were preserved.

"We decided to engaged them because of one reason or the other, and we also equally warned them not to take the law into their hands as they should follow the directive from the army and other security agencies attached to the area," he said.

He said: "And any planned protest by any person will be viewed as anti-progress and will be met with decisive action."

He said young Kamaluddeen was hit by a fast-moving vehicle outside the university on Tuesday, 8th June, 2021 at about 10pm and on receiving the report of the accident, the vice-chancellor instantly directed the Dean of the Students Affairs to visit the scene and take all necessary action.

"The driver of the vehicle was apprehended while the victim was rushed to the hospital under the supervision of the University Director of Health Services for prompt medical attention as he sustained multiple fractures."