

Man electrocuted in Ughelli community not our staff - BEDC

The Benin Electricity Distribution Company (BEDC) has debunked the Monday November 1, 2021 story by the online platform of a national newspaper, not New Telegraph that, "BEDC Employee Electrocuted in Ughelli Community".

Describing the story as false and misleading, the organization said, "The employee was not in the services of BEDC Electricity Plc."

According to the BEDC, "the electrocuted "Mr. Monday" was not a staff of BEDC and was only working illegally on the network before his untimely death.

"The writer of the story did not confirm the identity and status of the demised person before writing the story neither was there an official confirmation from the company or Business Manager in Ughelli.

"We kindly urge the public to discountenance the story as we have commenced immediate investigation into the incident," the company said.
