

Edo Police declared Yahoo boy wanted over alleged ritual murder of lover

The suspected ritual killer

Francis Ogbuagu,
BENIN CITY

The Edo State Police Command yesterday declared one suspected 'Yahoo boy' ritualist, simply known as Osas, wanted over the alleged killing of his girlfriend, Elohor Oniorosa on Christmas eve in what is suspected to be ritual killing in Benin City, Edo State.

According to the State Police PPRO, SP Bello Kontongs, the father of the deceased William Oniorosa reported the case to the police and investigation is ongoing with the aim of arresting the suspect.

The PPRO said: "The suspect's name is Osas and his surname is unknown, who is a boyfriend of Elohor Oniorosa, daughter of one William Oniorosa who also reported the incident to the police.

"Investigation is on while the suspect is on the run. The Incident happened on the 24/12/2021," the PPRO added.

It was gathered that the suspected 'Yahoo Boy' ritualist returned from Ghana a week ago and allegedly slaughtered his girlfriend in Benin. The incident was said to have taken place in Egor Local Government Area, an outskirts of Benin metropolis, where the suspect also hails from.