MAIDUGURI

One person was killed while three others sustained injuries on Friday, when suspected Boko Haram insurgents attacked voters in Gwoza town, Gwoza Local Government Area, Borno State. A resident of Gwoza, Abuba-kar Gava, said the insurgents launched Rocket Propelled Grenades at two different places in the town, killing one and injuring three others. He said: "The insurgents launched three RPGs from the top of the Mandara Mountain, throwing residents into confusion, making them run for their dear lives, as a result of the gunshots."
