

Ogun: Four Bank Staff Kill Customer's Wife While Trying To Retrieve Debt

Olufemi Adediran

May 14, 2023

2 minute read

Four staff of a Microfinance Bank in Ogun State, have allegedly killed the wife of a customer while trying to recover the debt owed by the deceased's husband.

Our correspondent gathered that the deceased's husband had taken a loan from ZEFA Microfinance bank in Abule Ijoko, Lemode area of Ifo Local Government Area of the state.

In a bid to recover the debt, the bank staff: Badmus Olalekan, Ajibade Oludare, Eniola Aduragbemi, and Femi Oloko stormed the house of the debtor, but his 50-year-old wife was killed.

The Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO) of the state Police command, Abimbola Oyeyemi confirmed the incident to journalists in Abeokuta on Sunday.

Oyeyemi said the suspects had been arrested by the operatives of Agbado divisional police headquarters.

He said the suspects were arrested on Wednesday, May 10, following a report lodged at the police station by the deceased's daughter.

The PPRO said, "Trouble started when the bank staffers visited the home of the deceased to ask for the payment of a loan taken from the bank by the deceased's husband. The staffers threatened the wife, but she refused to pay. In a fit of rage, they killed her. The police are currently investigating the case and have arrested the four suspects." <https://newtelegraphng.com/ogun-four-bank-staff-kill-customers-wife-while-trying-to-retrieve-debt/>

"Not satisfied with the woman's explanation about the whereabouts of her husband, the bank staff decided to pack all the electronics in the house to their office, a step that