

Police arrest 12 suspects as 4 die in Enugu land dispute

The police have arrested 12 suspects over a communal land dispute that left four people dead in two communities in the Ezeagu

Local Government Area of Enugu State. Police spokesman DSP Daniel Ndukwe confirmed the development on Sunday.

Ndukwe said that the clash between the Oyofe and Awha communities took place on Friday at about 10am.

He said: "The Commissioner of Police Ahmed Ammani has ordered the deployment of police to the Oyofe and Awha communities.

"The deployment is to maintain the normalcy already restored in the area after the clash.

"The clash led to the murder of four males and the burning of one tricycle and five motorcycles."

According to Ndukwe, preliminary investigation showed that the clash was due to a land ownership tussle between the communities.

Flood: Avoid Bauchi-Gombe Road, FRSC warns motorists

The Federal Road Safety Corps (FRSC) has advised motoring public travelling through the Abuja-Yola Expressway and those traveling from the North East to North Central to ply alternative routes.

Corps Marshal Dauda

heavy rainfall washed away the culvert linking Bauchi to Gombe, making the road not motorable for motorists.

"The culvert is completely washed away and the road cut off and an alternative route is advised.

"In order to ensure safe trips during this season,
