

Army, Militants Set For War at Ogboinbiri

The sad episode that led to the massacre and the sacking of Odi community in 1999 is set to repeat itself as the Nigerian Army is set to lay siege to Ogboinbiri community where 12 soldiers were killed on Sunday.

the militants are ready to do battle with the military as youths are said to be trooping in to the embattled community from as far away as Warri, Burutu, Bomadi and Patani in Delta state and ~~Okirika in Rivers state.~~

The movement of the boys

followed reports that the federal government has deployed several hundreds troops to Ogboinbiri to recover the bodies of soldiers killed and those held as Prisoners of War by the militant when the Ogboinbiri flow station belonging to Italian oil company, Nigeria Agip Oil Company (NAOC) was invaded by rampaging militants.
