

Village Head Murdered

Akwa Ibom State Police Command is now working around the clock to unveil the identity of those who murder a traditional ruler in Akwa Ibom State. The native ruler, Chief Nelson Bassey Etuk who was a village head of Ikot Udo Enag in Ikono local government area of the state was reportedly killed by unknown assassins last month. Police authorities said, already some suspects who carried out the murder have been arrested and under going further questioning. The image maker of the state Police Command, Mr. Gabriel Ngban who confirmed the story revealed that the death body of the traditional rulers was abandoned by killers in the swamp.