

Headless Body

The police in Lagos State, have recovered a headless body of a man suspected to be a student beside the Oke-Afa canal, in Isolo, at the weekend. Police Spokesman, Mr Olabode Ojajuni, said yesterday in Lagos, that the body was found on the Isolo-Ejigbo road. He said the victim's private part, hands and legs were chopped off, adding that "we suspect that the victim is a student of higher institution of learning, because an academic gown found near the body." Ojajuni said the victim was either killed by cult members or ritualists. The body had been deposited at the Isolo General Hospital's mortuary.

MARTIN