

Police Arrest Murder Suspect

The Bayelsa Police Command has arrested a man suspected of killing a middle-aged man at the Ovom area of Yenagoa, last week.

The Bayelsa Police Public Relations Officer, DSP Ibokette Inibong told the News Agency of Nigeria in Yenagoa on Friday that at 3.30 am on August 28.

The command was said to have received a distress call from neighbours around the UPE Primary School Gate, Ovom, about an attack.

Inibong said the police quickly sent detectives to the scene of the attack and on getting there, our men discovered a middle-aged man lying in a pool of his own blood, stone-dead.

"The victim had multiple cuts over his head, while his left leg was severed from the rest of his body."

He said the police arrested the suspect near the crime scene as he attempted to escape from the area.

Inibong said that at the time of his arrest, the police "discovered that all his body was soaked in blood".
