Generator Fume Kills Man,Wife, 2 Kids

From Adibe Emenyonu in Benin, 01.06.2009

Tragedy struck in the early hours of yesterday in Benin with the death of "Odionwere" (head), of the community, Pa Michael Aiweriokhoe (70), his wife (50) and two of his children under mysterious circumstances.

THISDAY investigations revealed that while residents of the community were of the opinion that the death of the entire family members was as a result of fume from a small generator used by the deceased the previous night, men of the Edo state Police Command are suspecting foul play in the incident, and are now working round the clock to unravel the mystery behind their death. The Police Public Relations Officer, ASP Peter Ogbai, who spoke on the issue said that it would be too hasty to jump into conclusion on what was responsible for the death of the deceased until the result of an autopsy being conducted by the Command was released.

The Police image-maker said the command was at the top of investigation into the incident and urged the people of the area to maintain calm.

Narrating the incident, a member of the community, who gave his name as Amos Aigbekhian, stated that he was still sleeping at about 6.30am Monday when one of the sons of the deceased cried to his house.

According to him, "when the boy came, he was crying saying that he tried to no avail to wake his father and mother..

"I quickly ran to the house, when I got there, I saw the man on the chair in the parlour, I woke him, no response and something like foam was coming out of his mouth, he was dead. In the same manner, his son, Esosa who had just graduated from the University of Benin, that one also was in the room and was lifeless. Also another boy, Eric who just graduated from Auch Polytechnic. "Inside the room, we saw the wife and she was dead with foam in the mouth.

One of his sons who was not yet dead was rushed to the hospital and as at this moment, he is still under the intensive unit of the Central hospital in Benin".

Investigation revealed that the generator that allegedly killed the family was put at the corridor of the apartment with an enclosed wall thus making it impossible for the fume and smoke to get outside.

When our reporter visited the house located at 33, 1st Ihogbe street, off Wire road, Benin City, both family members and other relations were seen weeping profusely just as the doors of the house were under lock and key, and some of the residents describing the development as a bad omen for the entire community.
