

experience. Reacting to the news of Osemeke's death, Uduaghan said it was painful and saddening that the Delta has lost another talented man at a time the state was yet to recover from the shocking death of Senator Pius Ewherido.

Police Launch Manhunt for Suspect

The police in Ekiti State are currently on the trail of a man, Mr. Adewale Daramola, popularly known as Wasco, who allegedly beat his wife to death at Igbemo-Ekiti community in Irepodun/Ifelodun Local Government Area of the state. The man, according to the sources, was a commercial motorcycle repairer and farmer. It was learnt that Daramola did not just beat his wife, Iyabo, to death, he was alleged to have also buried her the same day the incident happened, thereby baffling the people of the community and Iyabo's relations.

County Prisons LG Vice-Chairman