

an embarrassment that members of the 'New PDP' were fighting the party that made them what they were today.

"This is totally anti-party and they are ingrates. The Save PDP Group is completely opposed to their call for the cancellation of the recently conducted national convention. The call and conditions put forward by the group are totally out of tune with the present realities because nobody can stop a Nigerian citizen from aspiring to any office, no matter shop of the Nigeria Union of Journalists. A spokesman lamented that the retirees had yet to receive their terminal benefits since they retired, adding that this had led to the death of some of them.

FUTA Staff Killed at Local Bar

A member of staff of the Federal University of Technology, Akure (FUTA), Ondo State, Udoh Johnson, has died, following a disagreement between him and a customer at a drinking joint located on Adinlewa Street, Akure, Ondo State. Ironically, the deceased was billed to move to his new house at Aule, a suburb of Akure, a day after. According to findings, Udoh met his death on October 6, when he came to charge his handset at a drinking joint around his residence. A source said at about 11.30pm one of the customers, who had come to the joint to drink claimed Udoh stepped on his foot. The accusation later led to an argument between Udoh and the customer, named Wale, who removed the handset and charger and threw it into the street. It was gathered that this act infuriated Udoh and he engaged in a fight and Wale stabbed him with a broken bottle.
