Gunmen stormed Galadimawa roundabout area of Abuja yesterday, killing seven policemen and two civilians.

Eyewitnesses told THISDAY yesterday that the deadly men carried out the attack around 8.30pm on Monday night sending everyone around the area scampering for safety.

According to one of the hawkers who spoke on condition of anonymity, the gunmen specifically came for the police officers stationed at the junction.

He said civilians were not targeted except a Gwari man who was killed by a stray bullet.

He noted that while the police officers died instantly, the other man received a gunshot wounds and later died in the hospital.

According to the witness, "They came and gunned down the Policemen immediately, about seven of them. We were scared and everything happened so quickly that before we could recover they have zoomed off.

"I was able to see one of the Policemen in his pool of blood but we were afraid to go closer so that we won't be arrested as one of the suspects."

Another witness who was selling a roasted corn when gunmen came said that the suspects came with two cars and a motorbike, a Toyota Camry and Gulf, killing another man at a Petrol Station in Galadimawa.

He said the gunmen also carted away several guns and sped off.
