At least three soldiers have been killed when terrorists suspected to be bandits planted an Improvised Explosive Device (IED) off the Abuja-Kaduna Expressway yesterday.

The troops deployed at Gwagwa village were going for an operation when their vehicle stepped on IED planted by the terrorists.

According to military sources, while two soldiers died on the spot, another one died later due to excess bleeding from his injury.

This comes barely a week after terrorists ambushed troops along Abuja-Kaduna Expressway and killed seven soldiers.

The incident occurred the same day terrorists bombed Abuja-Kaduna train, killing about persons and abducted several passengers.
