Delta State Polytechnic shut down

• Tuesday, Sep 25, 2007

Delta State Polytechnic, Ozoro, has been shut down following students' restiveness.

Also, entrance examination into the polytechnic, slated for Saturday, was postponed indefinitely.

A statement by the Registrar, Mr Vincent Okonji, on Friday, said that the closure was the decision of the polytechnic management's emergency meeting on Thursday.

He said that the closure became inevitable, following the unruly behaviour of some of the students.

He said that the restive students included those who had not paid their tuition fees and those who had been expelled from the school.

Okonji said that all the students were expected to vacate the school premises immediately.

He also said that the conditions for the polytechnic's reopening as well as the date would be communicated to the students in due course.
