Woman stabs husband to death in Lagos Olalekan Olabulo, Lagos Friday, August 15, 2008

The police in Lagos State have begun investigations into the circumstances surrounding the death of a father of three, Mr. Hakeem Badmus, who was reportedly stabbed to death by his wife on Wednesday.

The incident occurred at their 28, Coker Street, Mushin, around 10.00 p.m. on Wednesday.

Badmus died in a hospital where he was taken to after he was stabbed in the neck by his wife.

Badmus and his wife, Remilekun, had reportedly engaged in a fierce argument that degenerated into one of them going for a knife.

Nigerian Tribune gathered that Hakeem and his wife were until the incident living with their three children aged seven, six and two.

Remilekun, in her statement with the police, accused her late husband of excessive Indian hemp smoking and wife battery which, she claimed, often led to quarrels between them.

Nigerian Tribune gathered that the husband had returned home late on the day of the incident to be confronted by the wife who accused him of returning from where he had gone to smoke.

The accusation led to a serious quarrel between the couple and what followed was the man being stabbed in the neck.
