Confusion in Ankpa as two brothers get electrocuted

Johnson Babajide,
Lokoja

RESIDENTS of Ankpa, headquarters of Ankpa Local Government Area of Kogi State experienced shock last week, while two brothers (names withheld) got electrocuted when attempting to adjust external television antenna.

According to information made available to Community News, the brothers were said to be adjusting the pole of the antenna unknown to them that it was resting on a high tension cable which passed through their house.

The two brothers, according to an eyewitness, died immediately the pole fell on the naked wire.

It was gathered that when the residents discovered that the two brothers had died, they had to rush to the office of Power Holding Company of Nigeria (PHCN), where they lodged a complaint on the incident.

It was gathered that the corpses were later removed by the security agents and taken to the general hospital.
