The vehicle which had 29 persons on board was said to have left the riverine area of Ondo State and was heading towards Lagos with the consignment in it when the accident occurred.

The driver was said to have thereafter lost control of the vehicle and veered off the road into the bush where the vehicle somersaulted several times.

Many of the victims of the accident were said to be people that sat on top of the drums of the local gin in the ill fated truck.

The Police PRO, Adeniran Aremu told Vanguard that the impact of the accident was much because of the load and the sitting arrangement of the people on it.
