

Bullion van driver arraigned for murder, reckless driving

By Gabriel Enogholase

BENIN—A BULLION van driver with Union Bank of Nigeria Plc, Mr. Ola-

DELSU to graduate first set of medical students

By Festus Ahon

UGHELLI—PROVOST, College of Science, Delta State University, DELSU, Abraka, Prof. Patrick Igbigbi, yesterday, said the institution was set to graduate its first set of medical students and nurses, next year.

Igbigbi, who made the disclosure while fielding questions from newsmen, during the 2010 First Aid Week for 200 level students of the College, said 38 doctors and jide Gboroye, has been arraigned before an Okada Magistrate Court, Edo State, on a three-count charge of murder, reckless and dangerous driving.

According to Count one of the charge brought against him by the state Commissioner of Police, the accused was alleged to have driven one Toyota Hilux Bullion van with Registration Number DC58JJJ-LA-GOS, in a reckless and dangerous manner along the Akure – Benin Road and collided with one Renault van with Reg. No GA85LSD driven by one Richard Ebi-redelu, which resulted in his death.

The accused was alleged to have committed the offence, which is punishable and contrary to Section 13 (1) (b) Cap.135 of the Federal Highway Act of 1971.