Yola – Some gunmen killed two persons in Mubi on Sunday in an attack which left one person wounded.

Mr Mark Idakwo, the Commissioner of Police in Adamawa, confirmed in Yola on Monday that two people were killed, while one was hospitalised following the attack in the Sabon-Layi area of Mubi.

The police chief, who did not give details of the incident, nonetheless, urged the public to give any information that could assist the police to track the yet-to-be-identified gunmen who perpetrated the act on Sallah day.

However, an eyewitness told journalists that six gunmen descended on the area around

8 p.m. on Sunday and ordered everyone to lie down.

“They collected money and handsets from the people before shooting sporadically as they retreated, hitting four people in the process,” he said.

The eyewitness, who preferred anonymity, said that the attack took place in front of the house of Alhaji Sahabo Jauro, the PDP Chairman in Mubi North Local Government Area.

“Most of those affected were visitors to the politician house”, he added.
Apart from the incident, the Sallah celebration was generally peaceful in Mubi and other major towns across the state. (NAN)

This story reminded me of how i escaped death by the whiskers on 6th Jan, 2012 @ Shagari low cost Mubi where abt 11 people died.

The road to recovery is such a long one after sustaining bullet wounds....

If not 4 God's infinite mercies, would have gone.

I will never forget Mubi and Boko haram menace so easily.

May God's mercies n love continue to shield n defend His children esp. in Northern Nigeria. Amen!

North are so scared of autonomy. In the past, when their were regions, each region was able to develop at its own pace, and they are self-reliant. I have proposed the current six-region (zones) as...

no where is safe in nigeria.why do we have so much money and yet we cant fix simple problem of security.in enugu city where i live.people are killed on daily basis with ease and government and the police pretend not to know.why do our leaders go to overseas and learn nothing from their organization.cant the police personnel be stationed at the end of all the streets of this country.could that be asking for more from these vision less leaders who are bent on on squandering our common wealth.just like olisa agbokoba said recently,the common man in this country provides everything he needs himself including security.i am now in my house but i know that anybody can work into my room and do anything for as much time as he wants without any check from any quarters.i weep for my country. can they possibly pass a bill to allow every Nigerian to bear arms because jonathan care not about the more number of nigerians that will be killed round the country.he can only condemn the acts as they come out.idiots

Despite his videotaped confession to CNN and an earlier confession to police, prosecutors say Ismail can soon be a free man if his victims' family agrees to accept compensation for the killings.

Receiving blood money is an option for victims in many conservative Muslim societies under the Islamic principal that mercy is more noble than revenge. But women's rights activists complain that in patriarchal societies like Pakistan, 'honor' killers regularly bully and threaten the female victim's family into accepting blood money.

"When it comes to the crime we have a natural reaction of shock and horror, but when we see the justice system not work, our heart breaks," said legal advisor and rights activist Bushra Syed.

According to human rights lawyer Zia Ahmed Awan, victims' families in Pakistan are also at a disadvantage because 'honor' killings often take place in male-dominated communities where women are often viewed as property with few rights to defend themselves and little access to legal aid.

"In parts of the country there is hardly any legal help for women," Awan said. "This crime is growing because the courts and laws are not responding to the cries for help."

It is either that Islam is violent as a religion or there is something wrong with it's foundation. With all the comfort and benefit some of them claim in Uk, they still find space in their heart to plot against them. The irony of it is that you can hardly see fellow Muslims condemning them.
