Jalingo – An expatriate staff of a popular road construction firm in Taraba, Mr Robin Grey, has been killed by unknown gunmen on the Takum-Wukari Road, the police said on Friday in Jalingo.

Grey, an Irish, worked with PW Construction Company, which was handling the Wukari-Takum Road in Taraba.

The state Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO), Mr Amos Olaoye, said the incident occurred at about 5.30 p.m. on Thursday.

He said that a police patrol team from the Takum division found the victim and his driver lying in the pool of their own blood.

He said that Grey, who until his death was the company’s project manager, was traveling in an official Hilux van.

Olaoye said the police rushed the victims to a hospital in Takum, adding that Grey died in the hospital.

He, however, said the driver was responding to treatment in an undisclosed hospital in the area, adding that the police suspected the incident to be a case armed robbery.

He said that the command had deployed more men to the area for raids and further investigation.

Olaoye said details of the incident would be made available to the media as the investigations progressed. (NAN)

This insecurity thing has now become a major factor.

I want the Federal govt to try this, we have enough solders, federal should build enough express security post along all major roads, this post should contain at least four rooms including central hall where solders can stay to monitor the road, radio message should also be connected to enable them communicate each other. Since we not have express light, diesel should always be approve for them to run

One day a senior public will similarly die and we will know what the police will say. Injury to one is injury to all. Why are we allowing this to continue in our nation. We have had enough of these excuses. Enough is enough! Is no one in charge? The world has become a global village, these kind of news does no good to our corporate image abroad. If no one is willing to come to Nigeria to invest then we are finished. We are playing koso with this insecurity problem. It cannot be explained away it has to be dealt with. Aso Rock wake up! The welfare and security of the people shall be the primary function of Government. If the Government cannot perform its primary function, how then can it perform its secondary and tertiary functions?

Wrong. Not all Irish are catholics, otherwise they wouldn't have the catholic IRA and protestant Republicans who fought a very bitter sectarian war. To make your satanic equation look daft, Taraba is mostly christian country.
