PORT HARCOURT—It was gory sight yesterday Mgboshiminu community in Obio/Akpor Local Government of Rivers State as Charity Ovudah, 36, allegedly stabbed her husband to death after first poisoning his food.

The alleged murder said to have taken place in the night before was reportedly provoked by the deceased, Peter Ovudah's attempt to bring a second wife into the matrimonial home he had shared with the alleged killer.

A family source said the deceased had already concluded plans to bring the new wife, who was pregnant, into the family house before Charity's fatal reaction.

Mrs. Igbokwe Onyeka, a neighbour to the Ovudahs revealed that; "The family had been quarreling over the issue of a second wife but no one anticipated that Charity would be so angrily killed her husband.

A 19-year-old housemaid to the Ovudahs, who gave her name as simply Loveth said she witnessed how Ovudah died, saying she first noticed that Charity added something to her husband's food that fateful night.

She said: "I was the one who served the food for my aunt's husband but my aunt added something that looked like salt and mixed it together.

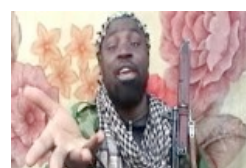

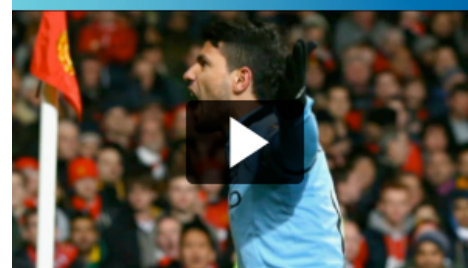

"So when Oga came back and started eating I was monitoring him. After about 30 minutes he started behaving strange and fell off the dining chair, rolling on the floor and shouting for help.

I am a lady and i say the woman is a devil for killing her husband.

A man can not love you till death. How have you even treated your husband all these while before he found interest in the other lady?

With the killer-wife's drastic action, it is obvious she's a temperamental woman and as such might have been a woman who doesnt pamper her husband.

All men need are pampering even when they are doing bad. Violence and threats scare men away from us. No matter how our spouses offend us, let us learn to welcome them and tolerate them...then find good time to sought things out amicably.

Even if the situation persists, overreacting and violence are still not my advice to any lady out there.

Once again, i condemn the act of the woman. She is a devil. Didnt she know a man is a man, either a pastor or a sinner. Men

Would you like it if your husband went round impregnating other women? You won't!

I once saw the marriage of a relative of my mother's broken down by the husband's infidelity. It not only affected the woman..it affected the children too. One of the kids was emotionally scarred for life.

Infidelity is best not practiced.

Even if you tell me my spouse is in a hotel with another girl, i will force myself not to believe you. Why should i accept it when i know its acceptance hurts? Instead i turn blind eyes to all his misdeeds cos turnin clear eyes would cause trouble and of course, i do not want anyth that would hurt my emotions.

Yes, it is wrong for a man to cheat on his wife, but we should know that GOD created them like that. All they need from us is understanding, respect, tolerance and forgiveness.

We may think they are not appreciating our care, but i tell you, deep down within them, they know everyth that is happening around them and they appreciate that wife who is tolerant and understanding.

There are ways you would talk to your man, and i tell you, your man will never forget you and always think about your counsel to him... public embarassment is not the way, threat is not the way neither is violence the way.

Nor be everyth we go use take quarrel.

This lady Dido is making very important points and some of you are opposing her. Thats the best thing to do.I am not sure some of you are married.Now who lost? . The woman lost, because she will live a guilty life. She is now regreting her action.The maid should be arrested too.

Dido ➔ Ositamegwa Chidera • 20 days ago

Even when it happens, i would pretend it never happened. That is the best way to deal with issues like this.

Have you ever taken time to read Michael Bolton's lyrics on WHEN A MAN LOVES A WOMAN? likewise WHEN A WOMAN LOVES A MAN

When you love your spouse, you turn blind eyes to every bad he/she does even though it's obvious he/she is taking you for a fool.

If you try your best and the man is not appreciating it, you can peacefully file for a divorce in court. Then your husband would be compelled to take responsibility of the welfare of you and your children.

Divorce would have been better than this

Divorce would have been better than this murder

Dido, it's easier said than done. No woman wants to share her jewel with another woman, especially when you must have suffered with the man to build your home to some extent. I am not saying that the approach of the woman is the best but what the man did is not also right.

Every family should try and have their foundation in God, because if a man has a fear of God there are certain things he will not do likewise the woman. I rest my case.

"With the killer-wife's drastic action, it is obvious she's a temperamental woman and as such might have been a woman who doesn't pamper her husband."

Great pseudo science. Certainly you have never heard of temporary insanity and/or spontaneous sin of passion. In other words extreme actions can trigger extreme reactions.

Talking of "pampering her husband" so you never heard that it almost always becomes impossible to please a cheating spouse - because of the emotional disconnection? Try to please a cheating spouse and you'd get nothing but frustration and letdown. The reason is the cheating spouse's mind is usually where he or she gets her fleeting fixes.

I agree the woman went to the extreme in killing the man nevertheless understand the man's extreme action could Therefore, high temperament is ruled out. She must have consulted some ladies of her type that gave her such idea to use poison. Moreover, her plans must have taken a very long time before execution.

When is said some of our cultures are outdated, i was accused of being a promoter of western culture. I am not in support of this woman taking her husband's life and putting the future of their children (if they have any) in jeopardy. If a proper investigation is carried out, you will be shocked that when they were struggling the woman was a jewel, that needs to be worship., She was the best amongs the best, now that little money starts coming in, the man now realised his wife that has suffered with him during the raining and dry season is not educated enough for him, she is too fat, she does not know how to wear the latest designers in town, he will realised that he never really loved her but circumstances brought them together. He will then go for another that has the qualities to meet his new found taste. What you cant finish, it is better not to start it. My greatest worry now is their children, what will happen to them in a country like ours?

The house girl needs to tell the police what she knows about the alleged murder. She saw her madam putting some substance in Your are a living devil, only God knows how many homes you must have consumed with this deadly ideology of yours. When has polygamy became a crime and evil in our community? Anuofia, you have pointed out how the deceased family was pushing their son into second wife and how the devil (wife) struggled with the deceased, however, you have failed to point out if this evil of a wife was the reason behind the deceased actions.

May God in his infinite blessings bless your entire household and beloved relatives with this kind of wife and the faith of the deceased. OZU UDELE.

polygamy is always wrong in every culture..for god's sake,what happened to the for better for worse??even if the woman was not able to concieve,this is 21st century for crying out loud..there are million and one ways of making a woman to conceive .if she still cant,you can go for foster mum or even adoption..if you cant weather the storm with the wife you marry,better dont bring her out of her fathers house and desert her ..nigerian needs strong laws to deter men from acting like demi gods to their wives..if you are willing to enter into divorce,there must be a law to compel to pay through your nose for the upkeep of the woman you are about to divorce,this will force men to think thrice before deciding to send their wives away..this is my 2 cents though..

Tonydaymn. Please, do not twist the report into something else. Where and how did barrenness came into this report? Did you in anywhere read that the deceased got married to a second wife due his first inability to conceive? See, this is the reason why people are under constant wrong impression about marital life. Here you are pointing at the phrase for "better for worst, without minding that its Christians wedding slogan, and not applicable to our traditional wedding where a man is not bound for one wife only. You cannot impose your Christian doctrine on people who wish to toe other religion doctrine of marriage.

Meanwhile, 21 century does not subject any man to some kind of brutal murder because he chose to follow his culture..

from the story,its obvious that there must be some squabbles before the man decide to get a second wife and not just any second wife but a pregnant one..that means he must have been committing adultery for long..come onnnn..if you want to marry 10 wives,make it known to the woman you to marry first..dont bring her out and make her useless.women are endangered species at the hands of irresponsible and callous men,all sane countries have recognized this fact and have make laws to protect women except nigeria,oh i forgot that nothing is sane about nigeria.I am not ignorant of the fact that some women out there are jezebel ,this is why we need strong laws to protect both the man and the woman,give each other fair hearing when there is dispute and let a competent authority decides how they are going to divorce or separate,,,still my 2 cents...

You sounded typical a selfish Nigeria who cannot give without receiving.. Did i heard you preaching adoption? See, adoption is not an alternative to any family under the challenges of conception. There was no page in the bible story where God gave adoption as an alternative to barrenness, in-fact there's nothing like barrenness before the God of Christianity or are you not practicing what you preach?

Adoption is not something you do for your own selfish benefit as most Nigerian believes, it is a philanthropic form of given a hopeless child a chance to live and felt no absence of a good
