

Three die in Jos auto crash

BY TAYE OBATERU

JOS — Three persons were reportedly killed in an automobile accident in Anglo-Jos area of the Plateau State capital, Wednesday, when their driver lost control and rammed into a stationary vehicle.

Two other people are on admission at the Plateau Specialist Hospital following injuries sustained in the accident which occurred around the area popularly called Channel Seven.

Eyewitnesses said the driver of the Peugeot 306 vehicle apparently lost control and crashed into the parked truck.

"It was in the morning and as we were indoors we suddenly heard a loud sound. We rushed to the scene to assist the victims," a resident said.

He said two occupants of the car died instantly while the third died in hospital, adding that it took a combined effort of security men and residents to rescue those injured from the wreckage and take them to hospital.
