

BREAKING NEWS

TRANSLATE:::

Select Language ▼

Alleged cultist remanded over murder

on December 10, 2013 / in News 10:31 pm / Comments

BY ONOZURE DANIA

Lagos — Justice Kudirat Jose of a Lagos High Court sitting in Ikeja, Tuesday, remanded a suspected cultist, Rasheed Bello, in Kirikiri prison over alleged murder of one Busurat Ogunlaja and for also being a member of secret society.

The defendant is facing a two-count- charge boarding on conspiracy and murder.

The prosecution counsel, Kester, told the court that Rasheed and others at large committed the alleged crime on February 3, 2011.

He said the defendant and his accomplices who are members of Aye Confraternity murdered the deceased at 8, Odofin Street, in Epe area of Lagos.

The defendant pleaded not guilty to the charges against him but is plea was not taken as the judge ordered that he be remanded.

However, counsel in the matter asked Justice Jose for a trial date.

She adjourned the case to February 24, 2014.

Talking Point

Finally the cock crowed for Madiba

TIME was about 10:30 pm

Insurance and You

Energy infrastructure to get $50m boost

The Alternative

Conference Hall

We must get the CONFAB modalities right

Remember that

Features

Contracts review and the rot in roads infrastructure
No nation can

Femi Aribisala

The day of my resurrection from the dead by Femi

Dispatches from America

Wanted: A Nigerian political Floyd Mayweather