

Last week in brief

By Mariam Eko

Fulani herdsmen kills 22 in Plateau

A 22 persons were killed in Plateau State by suspected Fulani herdsmen. The herdsmen, from Mavo village in Wase local government area of the state, attacked the people in the community by opening fire on them.

B An eye witness account said 10 houses were razed during the attack, with innocent people killed, while others fled to the bush. Also in Borno State, gunmen killed three persons in Askira village. The Borno State commissioner of police, Mr Lawal Tanko, described the incident as robbery attack, adding that the gunmen also carted away money belonging to restaurant owners and other traders.

Senators defection stalled