Family of five dies in mystery fire

By Emma Una

CALABAR—FIVE persons were, over the weekend, burnt to death in Uyangha, Akamkpa Local Government Area of Cross River State when their apartment caught fire.

The victims whose names were given as Miss Gift Edet and her two sons, Ezekiel Edet, Okon Goodnews Edet, Miss Glory Edet and her daughter, Covenant Edet, were said to have retired to their apartment when the place was engulfed in fire at about 11pm.

According to an eyewitness, the women and other family members, held a meeting that evening over the burial arrangement of their late father but there was a disagreement with their elder brother said to be a top government functionary.

"They disagreed with their brother's plan to raise a building in the premises before the burial as he demanded that he be given sometime to execute the project before the burial," she said.

Our source said the women objected to his request and insisted that the burial go ahead, saying their father had been living in the house long before he died.

It was few hours after that meeting that fire burnt their apartment "but surprisingly, the fire burnt only the women and their three children while all the property in the house were not touched."

The victims who were rushed to the Mambo Hospital along Atamunu later died as the burns were severe.

s 3 for hacking into bank's data base

who proposed a business arrangement to him on how to hack into the bank's system. The staff subsequently informed the management of the bank and he was instructed to play along.

According him, "they agreed that the Keelog Key Grabber device would be used to harvest passwords of some of the key operation staff of the bank. The grabber was meant to be plugged into the computer system of the Head of Operations of a particular branch to retrieve information technology configuration settings from the computer system and pave the way for the fraudsters to move customers' funds out of the bank."

Wilson further explained that Lawal was arrested while trying to hand over the Keelog Key Grabber to the staff. His arrest led to the arrest of two other suspects, Olumide Kayode Maborukoje and Abass Ajibade.

"Items recovered from them include a keylogger, a laptop, a router, a modem, SIM cards, USB keyhole log with a template of keylogger and a jotter containing some account numbers which they intended to use for the fraud.
