A 46-year-old man Olubusayo Sunday reportedly killed his wife, daughter and committed suicide.

The tragedy struck on Wednesday at Onigbedu town in Ewekoro Local Government of the state when an Egun man and farmer allegedly beheaded his wife and daughter in his Onigbedu house, and committed suicide by stabbing and setting himself ablaze after the ugly incident. Sunday was reported to have beheaded his 40-year-old wife, Oyewole and his three-year-old daughter, Esther, and then stabbed himself, set himself ablaze and attempted to jump into a well near the house, but was rescued.

The Police Public Relations Officer in the state, Muyiwa Adejobi in a statement disclosed this, adding that the police detectives attached to Ewekoro Division of the state police command have commenced investigation into the tragedy that claimed three lives.

According to Adejobi, "the man, Mr Olubusayo's attempt to commit suicide was noticed when he stabbed himself and wanted to jump into a well near his house having set fire on himself but was prevented and rescued by his neighbors who later found out that he had done a great havoc in his house, but he later died in the hospital.
