

At Odiguite community in Ovia North-East, it was learnt that herdsmen invaded the community, yesterday, community, shooting sporadically and, in the process, killed two persons.

Sunday Vanguard learnt that the community and herdsmen had been having running battle for sometime now. However, some of the wounded persons were said to have been taken to the Benin Central Hospital yesterday while the corpses of the two victims were deposited in an undisclosed mortuary.

Edo State Police Commissioner, Johnson Kokumo, could not be reached on phone to comment on the incidents but one of his aides said the CP was in a meeting.

The Public Relations Officer of the Command, Mr Chidi Nwabuzor, who was also contacted, said he was attending an event and therefore could not comment.
