

In the same vein, Vanguard gathered that two persons were killed at Tse-Semaka when suspected herdsmen invaded in community late Sunday.

According to our source, the victims were reportedly killed when they moved into the deserted village from their IDPs camp to pick some of their belongings from their homes.

“They were ambushed by herdsmen who unknown to them had taken over the village and were grazing on people’s farms.”