

2 cultists killed in Agbarho

By Jimitota Onoyume

WARRI—TWO suspected cultists were killed in Agbarho, Ughelli North Local Government Area, Monday night.

Community sources told Vanguard that one of those killed was stabbed over a phone, adding that he died before he could be rushed to the hospital.

A resident said: "We heard it had to do with a girl's phone that was seized by a guy suspected to be a cultist.

"Members of the rival gang mobilised, stabbed him and he died on the spot."

The other person was reportedly shot around his house in the community. A resident, who gave his name as Andrew, said the victim may have died from the gunshot.

Efforts to get Police reaction were futile.

ns I'm not hot in bed, woman tells court