

Father of triplets cries for help, as wife dies during childbirth

The babies

PORT HARCOURT—MR. Emmanuel Amadi, whose wife died following delivery of triplets in Elele Alimini, Emohua Local Government Area, Rivers State, has cried out for financial support to sustain the babies.

Chinyere, Amani's wife, died from excessive bleeding following complications minutes after she was delivered of the triplets, Wednesday night, by a traditional birth attendant in the community.

The widower said: "This is too much for me to bear all alone. I need help from government, members of the public, NGOs and others to enable me take care of these triplets' feeding and medication."
