Suspected yahoo boy crushes Okada operator, passenger to death in Delta

By Paul Olayemi

A commercial motorcycle operator, popularly known as Okada rider and his female passenger have been crushed to death by a suspected cybercriminal, known as yahoo boy, around Oron area of Gana, in Sapele, Delta State.

The suspected yahoo boy driving a GKL Mercedes-Benz car was said to have absconded after he rammed his car into the commercial motorcycle operator.

Vanguard gathered that the motorcycle rider died on the spot while his passenger was said to have died at the hospital where she was rushed to.

An eyewitness told Vanguard: "The Mercedes-Benz car driver was on speed and after crushing the Okada man and his female passenger, the Okada man died on the spot while the injured woman was taken to hospital where she gave up the ghost."

An official of the Federal Road Safety Commission, FRSC, in Sapele, who confirmed the incident, told Vanguard that the commission operatives had recovered the car and damaged motorcycle from the scene of the accident and the commission has also evacuated the remains of the late Okada rider to the Sapele Central Hospital morgue.
