

Similarly, Mrs Rosemary Osahenrumwen Amadin through her counsel, J. I. Omorogbe is asking for N25m as compensation from the panel over the death of her husband, Mr Amadin Odewingie.

She said that her husband, a truck driver, was chased to his death by the Special Anti-Robbery Squad (SARS) of the Edo State Police Command at Ologbo in 2019.

Mrs Amadin said, in order to avoid being shot by the police, her husband jumped into the Ologbo River and when he requested for help, the police allegedly threatened to kill anyone who volunteered to help him while the police allegedly watched him drowned in the river.

The sitting of the panel continues today.
