Police kill bandits' leader, gang members in Niger

OPERATIVES of the anti-kidnapping team of Police force, with the support of local vigilantes, Monday, eliminated a notorious bandits' leader, Jauro Daji, in Niger State.

They also killed several other bandits loyal to Daji in the Kontagora axis of the State, PRNigeria learnt.

Ten motorcycles were also recovered from the bandits.

The Police, according to sources, acted on credible intelligence and ambushed the bandits, eliminating Daji, alongside his 'boys', who were trying to cross a stream in the bush, for a kidnapping operation at an isolated community.

Speaking to PRNigeria, one of the sources, an intelligence officer said: "It was the combined team of policemen and local vigilantes that killed Jauro Daji and scores of his bandits, who were on a mission to abduct innocent persons at a village.

"The notorious Jauro Daji, who is suspected to be involved in attacks on villages and schools, led other armed bandits in large numbers on motorcycles.

"The operation was successfully executed on Monday between Gulbin Boka to Dogon Fadama area under Kontagora Local Government Area. We also recovered 10 motorcycles."
