student falls sick in lover's hostel, dies en route hospital

By Shina Abubakar

OSOGBO—A female student of Osun State Polytechnic, Iree, reportedly died after falling sick in her boyfriend's hostel located in Iga area of the town.

The deceased, identified as Wumi, was said to be an ND 1 student of Mass Communication department of the school.

It was gathered that Wumi visited her boyfriend, known as Andy, Friday evening, where she passed the night, but later developed complications Saturday evening and died while she was being taken to hospital.

It was gathered that the girl developed complications while with her boyfriend and was releasing foamy substance in her mouth before she eventually died on her way to the hospital.

A source said, "The girl was rushed out of the hostel and taken to a private hospital, she was rejected and while she was being moved to another hospital, she died in the car."

It was learnt that the body has been taken to a morgue in Ikirun by the police while the boyfriend was arrested.

However, the school's spokesperson, Mr Tope Abiola, while confirming the incident, yesterday, said she died at a private hospital in Iree.

Meanwhile, Abiola while sympathising with the deceased's parents, confirmed that the boyfriend has been arrested and demanded an adequate investigation into the circumstances surrounding the student's death.
