

One feared killed as fire guts Kubwa market

By Omeiza Ajayi, Abuja

One person was feared killed on Friday evening as a section of the popular Kubwa ultra modern market in Abuja was gutted by fire.

While the identity of the deceased was not immediately known, at least two others were said to have sustained varying degrees of burns.

While the actual cause of the fire which started minutes before 8pm could not be immediately ascertained, traders said it was as a result of explosion from adulterated kerosene.

As of 8:45pm, fire fighters were still struggling to contain the inferno.
