Suspected kidnappers have killed a Soldier, driver and abducted a foreign contractor in the ancient town of Owo, in Ondo State.

Reports had it that the bandits stormed a construction site located at Ogbonmo Ijebu-Owo, Owo council area, at about 5pm.

Vanguard learnt that they trailed the Lebanese contractor to the construction site and shot dead the Soldier and the driver before whisking away their victim to an unknown destination.

One of the workers at the site told newsmen that ” The man we call white engineer has been kidnapped.

“His driver and his security, a soldier were killed. “The gunmen arriving at the site on Wednesday at about 5pm fired many shots into the air.

” We all fled the site on hearing the gunshots. Those that came were masked and were six or seven.

” It was when some of us later came back to the site after over two hours that we saw the dead bodies of the soldier and the driver.

“The White engineer was nowhere to be found. ” It was later that the police were invited and they took the corpses to the hospital in the town.
