

She grabbed my manhood, says man who killed, buried his daughter in shallow grave

November 3, 2022

By Chioma Onuegbu, Uyo

One Ime Sunday, who allegedly killed and buried his daughter in Omum Unyiam village, Etim Ekpo Local Government Area of Akwa Ibom State, told the Police she grabbed his manhood.

It was gathered that Sunday, after killing his 20-year-old daughter, Ofonmbuk, buried her at the family compound, Omum Unyiam village to cover his track.

Speaking on the arrest in Uyo, yesterday, the state Police Public Relations Officer, Mr Odiko MacDon, said: “The suspect alleged that there was a family misunderstanding, which led to a fight.

Read Also: I left Lagos for Abuja to contend with doubts, uncertainties – Tinubu

“During the fight, the victim held his manhood. So he, in turn, used a stick to hit her on the head, which led to her death.

“He decided to bury her in a shallow grave to cover his tracks.

“The Police have exhumed the body and preserved same for autopsy.”