According to a resident, who gave his name as Muyideen, "The Lexus SUV with number plate, LSD 356 GU, first crashed into a kiosk in front of the building before crashing into the building, at the spot where the children were playing.

"The children were rushed to the Isolo General Hospital, but the politician's two children died, while the third, a neighbour's son legs were broken and is still in the hospital.

"The vehicle, which was driven by a lady with one occupant just left a hairdressing salon a few metres from the scene, when it suddenly lost control."

Chairman of the Isolo Local Government Area of the state, Mr Olasaju Bayo, who was accompanied by some members of staff of the council visited the scene yesterday morning to have an on-the-spot assessment of the incident,

When our reporter visited the scene, the entire street was besieged with sympathisers mainly women, who wailed over the unfortunate incident.
