ILORIN—Two brothers, Aliyu Halidu and Farouq Halidu, have been arraigned in an Ilorin Magistrate's Court by the Kwara State Police Command for allegedly killing their cousin, Idris Hamah, in order to disposess him of his motorcycle.

The suspects were arraigned for criminal conspiracy, culpable homicide and armed robbery contrary to 97 and 221 of the penal code and 6(B) 1(2) to robbery and firearms special provisions Act.

According to the charge sheet, the suspects "ambushed Hamah, their cousin, and beat him with a stick till he died before they slaughtered him and went away with his new Bajaj motorcycle while coming from Gwasera market in Baruten local government."

They were, however, arrested by troops of the Nigerian Army deployed to Forward Operation Base, Karunji in Baruten Local Government Area.

Prosecutor, Innocent Owoola urged the court to remand them pending the outcome of investigation.

In her ruling, Magistrate Omotayo Adebosin ordered their remand and adjourned till April 18, 2023.
