

Residents flee community as cult war claims 3 lives in Rivers

By Davies
Iheamnachor

gunned down by members of a rival group, yesterday, at Elibrada community in Emohua.

It was learned that the killers had invaded the community in what seemed like a cult war and killed their targets.

The development has caused tension in the community, as frightened residents were seen packing out of the area in droves.

PORT HARCOURT— Three people have been reported killed in a cult battle in Emohua Local Government Area of Rivers State.

It was gathered that the victims, believed to be cultists, were allegedly

A source in the community said two of the victims, notorious cultist terrorising Elibrada community and one innocent resident died during the cross-fire.

Contacted at press time, spokesperson of the Rivers State Police Command, Grace Iringe-Koko said the command was not aware of such incident but promised to make findings and respond accordingly.