

Bouncer arrested for allegedly stabbing suspected hoodlum to death in Lagos

LATEST NEWS

US Election: Obama hits campaign trail for Harris

Lagos VIO operations unaffected by court ruling against vehicle impoundmen

Akwa Ibom community raise alarm over invasion of biodiversity sanctuary

NPCC, NRC move to resolve logistics challenges at ports

2024 Lagos Trade Fair target 1m visitors with free entry

The Lagos State Police Command has arrested Kingsley Otti, a club bouncer, for allegedly stabbing a suspected hoodlum to death during an altercation at a lounge on Ago Palace Way, Okota, Lagos. The incident occurred around 3:30 a.m. on Monday, as confirmed by the command's spokesperson, Benjamin Hundeyin, in a statement obtained on Wednesday.

Otti reportedly attacked the victim during a confrontation in the club's car park. The injured man became unconscious and was rushed to the Lagos University Teaching Hospital, where he later succumbed to his injuries.

The lounge's manager reported the incident to the Ago-Okota Police Division at about 11:30 a.m. on the same day. Investigators visited both the crime scene and the hospital, where the victim's body was inspected and photographed before being transferred to the Mainland General Hospital Morgue for an autopsy. In a related incident, a sex worker, Joy Kelvin, was reported to have fatally stabbed a 48-year-old man named Okafor at Jakande Housing Estate, Lekki, also on Monday.

Food prices, others ease pressure on August inflation rate

September 17, 2024

FG unveils $100bn creative economy growth plan, target 2m jobs

September 17, 2024