

In a separate development, Sale Ado Madele (alias Sarki), the eldest son of notorious bandit leader Ado Alieru, was reportedly killed.

Additionally, troops eliminated ten more terrorists who had gathered near a filling station in Danjibga. These individuals were believed to be members of a syndicate organized by Dogo Sule for a planned attack.

The Nigerian Armed Forces reaffirmed their commitment to safeguarding lives and restoring lasting peace across Zamfara State and the wider North-West region.

“This operation underscores our resolve to dismantle terrorist networks and bring perpetrators of violence to justice,” the statement concluded.
