

ethnic euphemism. practices and standards. The nation awaits the

Okomu Oil Palm MD laments death of 6 staff in auto crash

By Ayo Onikoyi

MANAGING Director of Okomu Oil Palm Company Plc, has expressed sadness over the death of six of his workers in a ghastly auto crash last week, and condoled with the families of the deceased.

It will be recalled that on February 14, 2020, on the Siluko public road, a minibus carrying six Okomu Plc employees was involved in a head-on collision with a tipper lorry, leading to their demise.

Managing Director of Okomu Plc, Dr Graham Hefer, lamented that contrary to five earlier reported in the media, six of his staff lost their lives in the tragic accident.

According to him, three other workers were seriously injured in the accident and the company Doctor had met the three employees injured at the hospital and is already working with his team to provide them with support until they fully recovered.

He added, "I am in shock and dismayed at the needless loss of lives. The board, management, staff, and all stakeholders of the company join in their thoughts and prayers in sending their heartfelt condolences and sympathy to the families for the loss of their dearest loved ones. May God grant them the fortitude to bear their losses and the comfort and peace to get through the days ahead."

mi
ma
vic
are
pro
ser
"
G
In
I
Tol
Joh
and
toge
rece
000
whi
purc
from N10
box
Infin
expi
their
Soc
Th
"Lov
organ